

Bad news for ML based ASR: orthogonalised data likelihood increases with noise level

Likelihood histograms for Numbers95 data with three levels of added car noise. Likelihood function is trained on clean data.

For orthogonalised data, likelihood increases with noise level